

Ponctuelle Light Design

The Parisian lighting design studio celebrates its 20th anniversary this year. Boasting an extensive, worldwide portfolio that spans across many different areas of expertise, Ponctuelle has grown from its beginnings in the entertainment world into a diverse studio that can cater to a broad spectrum of architectural lighting needs.

TimeVallée Shenyang, China

Located in downtown Shenyang, the K11 Art Shopping Mall hosts the largest TimeVallée store in the world; eighteen prestigious Haute Horlogerie firms are represented inside the same 1000sqm boutique. Ponctuelle created a specific light atmosphere to each of the five new common spaces: The Lady Salon VIP space for women; the Heritage Lounge for male customers; the Customer Service Room, where a watchmaker works; and the Showroom.

For this concept, Ponctuelle collaborated with formalighting to develop a selection of lighting fixtures, allowing adaptation to curves and volumes, to create the many different atmospheres throughout.

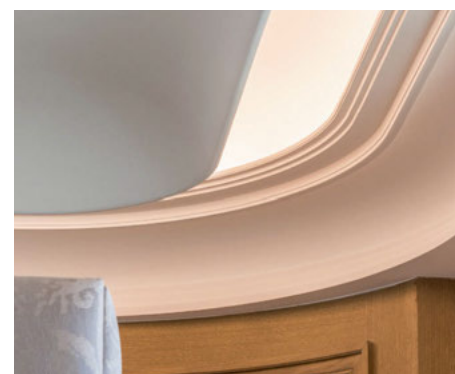

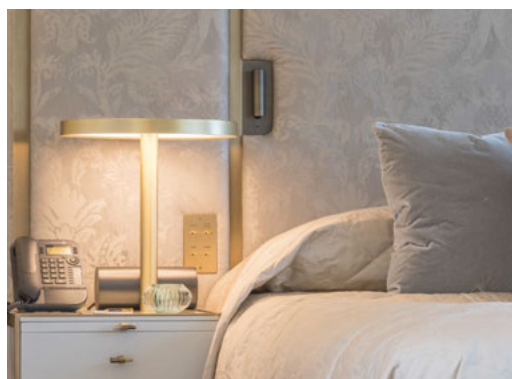

The Chauvet Cave Pont-D'Arc, France

The Chauvet Cave re-opened to the public on April 25th 2018, and for Ponctuelle, it was the completion of an exceptional project; Five years of studies, exchanges with the designers, architects, scientists, project managers, led to the creation of a work of light design that sought to match as closely as possible the feeling of the original painted cave.

The semi-darkness contributes to the stage direction of this cave. Every detail, whether artistic, or mineral or paleontological, revealed at each station of the visit, serves to recreate the emotion of the discovery. Ponctuelle used 1500 carefully hidden light sources, to create a homogenous, coherent lighting scheme that was both significant and touching, highlighting the phenomena on show.

Meurice Hotel Paris, France

Ponctuelle created the lighting design for two suites of the Meurice Hotel, an establishment that has been operating in the pure classical French traditions of the sixteenth century in Paris: In 2015, the Pompadour suite, which through its tribute to the Marquise de Pompadour (favourite of Louis XV), reminds guests of the splendor and magnificence of Versailles; and then in 2018 the 210sqm Belle Etoile suite, with its panoramic terrace overlooking the entire capital. In this suite, full of materials and moldings, the light integrates discreetly, while the lighting cove becomes a graphic element of space. On the adjoining terrace, touches of light disseminated on both sides reveal foliage, a trunk, a subtle play between shadow and light.

Columbus, An Organic Design New Jersey, USA

Interior designer Noé Duchaufour-Lawrance designed a project inspired by nature, for the common spaces at 90 Columbus, an 80-floor building in Jersey City. The landscape architect Bas Smets supported him in the realisation of the urban gardens. Ponctuelle has distilled its lights to create a calm oasis away from the effervescence of the city, and realised luminous ambiances for the different common spaces.

Cartier Peking Road Hong Kong, China

For the extension of the Cartier Hong Kong store, which now covers three floors in Tsim Sha Tsui, Ponctuelle developed the lighting design for the interiors, as well as the remarkable façade. The new-look store has been designed to provide a novel and enchanting shopping experience for visitors. Designed by Bruno Moinard and executed by AT Zero Design, the remarkable façade of the shop is inspired by the roof tiles of traditional houses. Reinterpreted "tiles" are structured with onyx, bronze and calacata, exuding golden tones that are complemented by the elegant lighting design. The façade also embodies a fusion of traditional elements and modern style, echoing Hong Kong's diversity and vitality.

Ponctuelle Light Design

Created in 1999 by Philippe Mombellet, lighting designer for live shows, Ponctuelle Light Design brings together personalities and skills from architecture and the world of entertainment. Each project in the studio's portfolio combines talent: lighting designer, architect, scenographer, design office, control room, and technical team, allowing Ponctuelle to respond creatively and operationally to all types of request. Ponctuelle collaborates with creators from all horizons to provide a range of skills in terms of advice, personalised studies, expertise and designs. Combining innovation and creation, the studio offers tailor-made solutions, taking into account the constraints and objectives of each project.
